Action required; not Words

Ever since the last Labour government signed Britain up to European "Human rights" legislation, the Tories have promised to leave the jurisdiction of the European Courts and scrap the "Human Rights Act". Now it has emerged that more than 40 convicted Islamic terrorists have avoided being deported after serving their sentences, claiming their "rights to a family life" would be violated if they were deported. Their appeals were funded by legal aid provided by the British taxpayer.

Our subservience to the odious "Human Rights Act" must end NOW!

One law for the politicians

Prime Minister, Theresa May has ordered an independent inquiry into attacks by the extreme-left on Tory politicians and election candidates. Most of these attacks have been online, and include both rape and death threats. However, there have also been some physical attacks with candidates being spat at by their opponents and cars, homes and offices being subjected to criminal damage.

But where were the Tories when John Tyndall was attacked in Stratford, East London? Or when Albert Marriner, an NF activist died after being hit by a brick thrown by extreme-left thugs? What about the attacks on NF offices and activists homes? And what about the police officer and Customs & Excise officer both of whom lost their jobs because they were political activists?

Where were the Tories then?

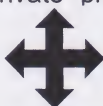

How the "Elite" look after their own

British High Court Judges have blocked an attempt by a former Iraqi General to get Tony Blair into court.

Former General, Abdul al Rabbat, wanted to bring a private prosecution against Blair, Jack Straw and Lord Goldsmith for their part in leading Britain into an illegal "regime change" war against Iraq, based on lies. It must be noted that Blair is a former Barrister, Jack Straw a former Home Secretary and Lord Goldsmith a former Attorney-General. All part of the British legal system.

Last year British magistrates refused permission to bring a criminal prosecution on the grounds that Blair, as Prime Minister, had "immunity" from a criminal trial.

Now the High Court have rejected a private prosecution on the grounds that "no crime was committed".

Muslim RACISTS Target Young White Girls

With the conviction of 17 men in Newcastle recently for committing over 100 sex crimes against vulnerable white girls, a pattern is emerging that even establishment figures are beginning to acknowledge. White nationalists have long advocated that most of these crimes are racially motivated and sentences should reflect this. But, liberal politically correct figures in the police, Crown Prosecution Service, Social Services and politicians have done their best to ignore the facts, and in doing so, deny the victims justice.

During the Newcastle trial, one defendant was overheard making the comment, "White women are only good for men like me to fk and use as trash". Pure race hatred!

This pattern of a race hatred element in these crimes has now been acknowledged by establishment figures such as the former director of the CPS, and now a Lib-Dem peer, Lord Macdonald who has demanded the abuse of white girls by Asian gangs be recognised as a "profoundly racist crime".

The Solicitor-General, Robert Buckland, told a national newspaper, "Where there is a racial element in sexual abuse cases the law is clear that courts can apply a sentencing uplift".

Attorney-General, Jeremy Wright, is now facing calls to review grooming sentences as the crimes were "racially aggravated"

What the perpetrators have in common is their proclaimed faith. They are Muslims. It is not Islamophobic to point this out"!

Rochdale Grooming Gang.

ROTHERHAM RAPISTS

Muslim men exploited English girls as young as 11 in sex gangs.

The debate has now widened as to how best to describe the violators of our children. Most politicians and media outlets prefer to describe them as "Asian" or being of "South Asian ethnicity". But, Dr Taj Hargey, from the Muslim Education Centre in Oxford, where in 2013 five members of a paedophile ring were jailed for life for gang raping girls as young as eleven, says, "why are we beating about the bush? The common denominator is they are mostly or exclusively Muslim and the common factor is these Muslims believe white women are like meat".

Trevor Phillips, the former head of the Equality and Human Rights Commission has stated, "Sex grooming gangs should be described as Muslim and not Asian."

It is a fact that since 2011, Muslim grooming gangs have been identified in 16 British towns and cities, and this it is believed, is just the tip of the iceberg.

But most of the establishment still avoid the issue, saying, "paedophiles are from all communities".

Politicians who do have the courage to speak up are punished. Hence the case of the Labour Shadow Equalities spokesman Sarah Champion, who was forced to resign her position after stating "there was a failure to acknowledge most offenders were British-Pakistani."

A Labour councillor, who publicly agreed with her, was deselected as a councillor!

In most of the Muslim community the subject is taboo. They withdraw into their communities and play the "victim" card. There is an anti-Muslim conspiracy, the accusations are racist, and the accusers are Islamophobic. The community is unable to admit that their men; fathers, sons, husbands and brothers are paedophile rapists who believe themselves to be superior to the vulnerable young white girls they groom and violate!

NEWS AROUND BRITAIN

Britain Still Targeted by Illegal Immigrants

A Home Office report has revealed that over 56,000 illegal migrants were stopped from entering Britain in just one year! This equates to 153 a day! These figures run from January 2016 to January 2017. In the three months leading to the destruction of the "Jungle" camp in Calais 21,000 illegals were stopped by Britain's Border Force.

Unfortunately, it is estimated that for every one stopped, at least three are successful! The estimated "underground" illegal immigrant population in Britain is now around 1.5 million! Worst still, experts estimate there is only a 1 in 1000 chance of being discovered in Britain and deported. Most are from Afghanistan or West Africa.

Immigrants from Somalia who successfully enter Britain have a 95% chance of being granted asylum here.

The liberal-left media made much of the figures released by the Home Office claiming that 96% of non-EU students returned home after their visas expired. Prompting demands that overseas students, all 1.34 million of them, should not be included in immigration figures.

But nobody from the media has highlighted that the 3.7% who do not go home equates to over 50,000 a year.

Somali Asylum Seekers

A separate report, only made available after a Freedom of Information request, showed that in one year, 2016-2017, almost 4000 Haulage companies were fined for bringing illegal immigrants into Britain hidden in lorries. Fines of up to £2000 can be imposed for each stowaway discovered, but rarely is.

A total of £7 million in fines were issued, but figures showing how much was actually recovered were not available.

National Front Hold Joint Protests with Polish Nationalists

Britain's National Front has supported two anti-abortion protests held by the National Rebirth of Poland (NOP) party in Britain. In London, the protests were held outside the Polish Medical Centre in Tooting, South London, which provides a range of medical services, including abortion.

Abortion is illegal in Poland and the NOP claim that Polish women regularly travel to this centre, and another in Doncaster, to have abortions, before travelling back to Poland. A spokesman for the NOP said, "hundreds of healthy Polish babies are being killed at these centres often just to suit a selfish mother's lifestyle. It is murder, and must be stopped".

The NF and NOP hope to hold more joint operations in the future.

Britain First March in Rochdale

An estimated 300 members and supporters of Britain First held a peaceful march through Rochdale town centre to highlight the ongoing problem with predominantly Muslim grooming gangs. Some roads were closed and busses diverted as the marchers made their way to a rally point where they were addressed by BF leader, Paul Golding and deputy leader, Jayda Fransen.

The large police presence was not needed as locals were generally supportive of the march and the only opposition came from just 20 supporters of the extreme-left, Unite Against Fascism group.

The 555 Pizza shop in Ramsgate Kent, which was the site of a horrific rape of a teenage white girl by the shop owner and three of his workers has reopened under a new name YSY Pizza. But the new owner has the same family name as the convicted rapist and police intend to oppose the granting of a premises licence as they fear public demonstrations outside the premises would continue, increasing the potential for disorder.

Activists from the National Front joined picketing at the centres and helped handing out anti-abortion leaflets.

Nationalists picket abortion centres

An NF official said, "the modern day trend of having an abortion to fulfil one's career would be ended under a National Front government. The life of the unborn child will be protected".

LESS WE FORGET

THE MURDER OF RUDOLF HESS

30 YEARS ON

On Monday the 17th of August 1987, the American director of Spandau prison in Berlin announced that Rudolf Hess had been found hanged in a summerhouse in the gardens of the prison, and was pronounced dead at 4.10pm. Initial suggestions were that Hess had committed suicide by hanging.

Although the prison at this time was under the control of the Americans, for some unexplained reason, his body was taken in an ambulance, accompanied by two men dressed in US army uniform, to a British Military Hospital.

Two days later, on the 19th of August, an autopsy was carried out by a British doctor, who noted marks on the left side of the neck consistent with hanging.

Thus ended the life of a man who had secretly flown to Britain in May 1941, in an effort to secure peace between Britain and Germany. Unfortunately, government warmongers, who had declared war on Germany in 1939, had no interest in peace, and Hess was imprisoned. He was later transferred to Germany where at the notorious Nuremberg Trials; he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

His proposals for peace have never been revealed!

The official report into Hess's death was released on the 17th September 1987.

The report concluded that Hess had committed suicide by tying a length of electric extension-lead wire normally connected to a reading lamp in the summerhouse to a widow latch, and used this to hang himself. No mention was made of the marks on the back of his neck! There was also no explanation how a frail 93 year-old man, who could not raise his hands above his head, was able to reach up to the window latch and, with his arthritis-ridden hands could tie a knot in the piece of wire to secure it to the latch!

Hess flew to Britain with peace proposals

Hess in the gardens of Spandau prison

On receiving news of his father's death, his son, Wolf Rudiger Hess, arranged for the body to be turned over to the family for burial, but secretly arranged for an independent autopsy to take place conducted by Doctor Wolfgang Spann, head of the prestigious, Institute of Forensic Medicine in Munich. Dr Spann noted the marks on the left of the neck, but also noted marks on the nape of the neck of a type that could not be caused by suspension, ie. hanging. It was his belief that Hess had been murdered by someone standing behind him who garrotted him!

After the death of Rudolf Hess, a Tunisian civilian worker in the prison told Wolf Hess that he arrived in the garden just minutes after the alarm went off and Hess's body was on the ground, not hanging. It looked as if there had been a struggle. Present was the Black American prison guard named Anthony Jordan, who was the prisoner's regular guard when the US had control over Spandau. Also present were two men dressed in US army uniform. He said this was unusual as the army normally only guarded the perimeter and did not enter the prison. These men left the prison in the ambulance with Hess's body.

Remember Rudolf Hess

In the 30 years since Hess's death much has emerged!

In 1988, through a South African lawyer with extensive contacts with Western intelligence agencies, Wolf Hess obtained an affidavit stating that Rudolf Hess had been murdered on the orders of the British Home Office.

"The planning was done by the British secret service, MI5 or MI6 and executed by two members of the SAS Regiment. The SAS comes under the jurisdiction of the Home Office, not the Ministry of Defence. These were the men dressed in US army uniforms who left the scene of the crime in the ambulance carrying Hess's body. Other intelligence services were made privy to the plan including the American, French and Israeli. The Russian and German intelligence agencies were not informed! The two killers had been in Spandau prison since the night of 15-16th of August. The CIA gave its consent to the murder on Monday August 17th.

Hess resisted the attack and called for help. He was rendered unconscious when the prison guard (Jordan) arrived. The two killers went into the ambulance with Hess, and completed his murder on the way to hospital.

I was given this information personally and verbally by an officer of the Israeli secret service at 8am on Tuesday August 18th 1987, the day after the murder. I have known this member of the Israeli service both officially and personally for four years. I am completely satisfied that he was sincere and honest and have no doubt whatsoever as to the truth of his information".

Hess still had secrets which could severely embarrass the British government. So following a private announcement by the Russian leader Gorbachev, that the Russians would release Hess in November 1987, when they next took their turn to man the prison, a decision to kill Hess was made.

Conclusion

There is no doubt in my mind that Rudolf Hess was murdered on the order of the British government. The planning and implementation would have been done by MI6, who deal with overseas intelligence matters, not MI5 who deal with internal threats to Britain. The information in the affidavit, information which was supplied by "an officer of the Israeli secret service" has one major flaw. It states that the SAS Regiment comes under the jurisdiction of the Home Office, not the Ministry of Defence, this is not true!

The SAS Regiment is part of British army, under the directorate of the Ministry of Defence, as is its Royal Navy counterpart, the Special Boat Service.

Every British soldier has the absolute right to refuse an order to murder an unarmed prisoner. To do otherwise would be a war-crime...murder!

It is interesting to note that the information in the affidavit came from a serving member of the Israeli secret service, and that the Israelis were also made privy to the plan to murder Hess. Why? What was Israel's involvement? Could it be that Mossad provided MI6 with the trained murderers?

With the death of Wolf Rudiger Hess in 2001, many thought the demand for justice had died with him. But no! Foreign Office files, obtained by a Freedom of Information request earlier this year revealed that in 1989, a former military surgeon previously based in Spandau gave Scotland Yard the names of two men he had been told had murdered Hess in 1987. The much redacted document shows that police mounted an investigation and presented their findings to the Crown Prosecution Service, who promptly closed the investigation, with the comments, "further inquiries are not necessary"!

The cover up goes on!

But nothing should stop us from remembering, and honouring the massive sacrifice that Rudolf Hess made. His freedom, and ultimately his life.

Honour the Martyr for Peace, and continue the battle for justice.

Britons Died in War they Fought to Avoid

First British Casualties were Blackshirts!

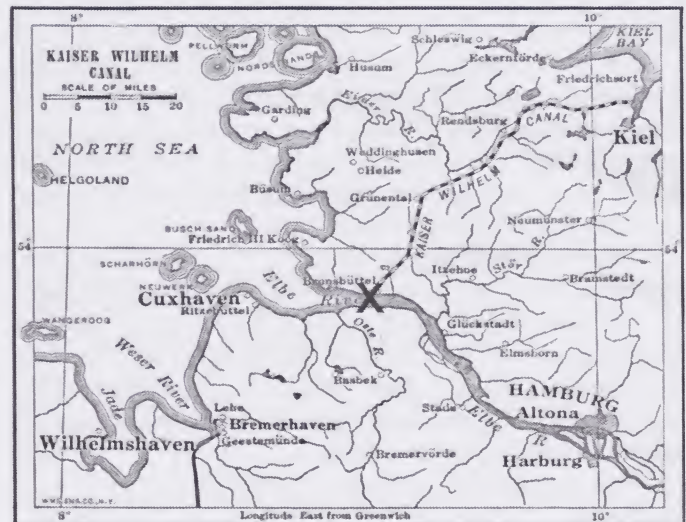

At 11 am on the 3rd of September 1939, British Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain formally announced to the nation that Britain was declaring war against Germany. Thus plunging Britain into the second "Brother's War" in just over 20 years. In the months leading up to this announcement Sir Oswald Mosley and the British Union of Fascists had campaigned vigorously throughout the country against war with Germany. But peace was not to be!

Within 24 hours of the declaration of war, six Wellington bombers from No. 9 Squadron based at RAF Honington in Suffolk left their base on a mission to attack two German battleships moored in the Kiel Canal.

Of the six No. 9 Squadron Wellingtons dispatched, two failed to return. Ten crew members died. One of the battleships targeted was heavily damaged in the air attack.

Wellingtons of No.9 Squadron

Map of the Kiel Canal Target Area

The sixty mile channel was heavily fortified, with anti-aircraft guns placed on both banks.

Flying at low altitude in poor weather conditions, one Wellington was hit by anti-aircraft fire. German fighters also intercepted the Squadron and the other Wellington was shot down by a Messerschmitt 109. The Germans later claimed this as the first Luftwaffe victory of the war.

Among the dead were two RAF ground crew members who had volunteered to act as gunners on Wellington L4275. They were twenty year-old Aircraftsman 2nd class Ken Day and, twenty two year-old Aircraftsman 1st class, George Brocking.

Both Ken and George were Blackshirts, members of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists!

BUF Peace Campaigners Called for Peace Not War!

As they were both enlisted servicemen, Ken Day and George Brocking were both officially "non-active" members of the BUF, but that didn't stop them from attending social events at their local branch in Suffolk, close to RAF Honington.

Right up to the day war was declared; Mosley and the BUF campaigned for peace. However, once war was declared Mosley issued the following message to BUF members and supporters:

"To our members my message is plain and clear. Our country is involved in war. Therefore I ask you to do nothing to injure our country or to help any other power. Our members should do what the law requires of them, and if they are members of any of the Forces or Services of the Crown, they should obey their orders, and, in every particular, obey the rules of their service".

The body of Ken Day was picked up ten days later by a German cargo ship. He was buried with full military honours at Cuxhaven Cemetery in Germany. According to the official German news agency at the time, German officers and a guard of honour accompanied his funeral.

The coffin was draped with the Union Jack and a German Naval Chaplain officiated. He said in his address, that it was "natural for our German soldiers to respect and honour the enemy who fell in honest fight"

The body of George Brocking was never found, and his name is inscribed on the RAF memorial at Runnymede, just one of over 20,000 other airmen with no known grave.

Runnymede RAF Memorial

Even today, schoolchildren are still taught by politically motivated teachers that Mosley and his Blackshirts were traitors.

But they are never taught that the first two official British casualties of the war were both loyal Blackshirts, who made the ultimate sacrifice for the country they loved!

Hundreds March in Berlin to Remember Rudolf Hess

Hundreds of European nationalists, many travelling from as far away as Hungary and the Czech Republic, joined German colleagues in a march to commemorate the death of Rudolf Hess in Berlin's Spandau prison thirty years ago.

Over 1000 police attended the march to prevent clashes between the marchers and some anti-Fascist thugs who were determined to stop the march.

Police continually harassed nationalists gathering for the march, with searches and even body inspections looking for "Neo-Nazi" tattoos.

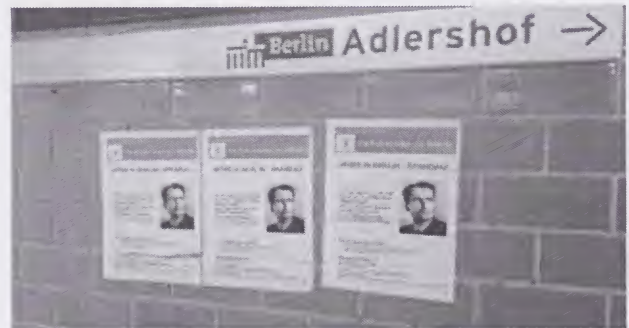

The march, from Spandau station to the site of the former prison, where 93 year-old Hess was believed murdered on the 17th of August 1987, was headed by marchers carrying a banner proclaiming, "I regret nothing". The very words that Hess used at the conclusion of his trial at Nuremberg.

"I Regret Nothing"

Establishment politicians had attempted to have the march banned under laws which exclude the right of assembly for national socialist events, but were thwarted when the organisers professed the intention of the march was to call for further research into the circumstances of Hess's death.

In the weeks leading up to the march, areas of Berlin had been blitzed by fake police posters calling for assistance in finding Hess's murderer.

Fake Police Posters

In a recent posting on his website, respected historian and author, David Irving claims that he was told personally by the former Berlin prosecutor, that Hess had been brutally strangled by the black prison guard Tony Jordan. The murder was covered up by agreement between the US State Department and the British Foreign Office, who ordered the Berlin police investigation stopped.

Norway

Norway to Ban the Burka in Schools

The government of traditionally-liberal Norway has introduced plans to ban full-face veils such as the Burka and Niqab from being worn in nurseries, schools and universities. The ban will apply to pupils and staff. The Norwegian minister for Immigration and Integration said, "Face-covering garments do not belong in Norwegian schools. They hinder integration and effect the ability to communicate".

Staff flaunting the ban could be dismissed, and pupils wearing the veils could be expelled from school.

Norway is the latest European country to impose restrictions on the wearing of veils. France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Bulgaria already have restrictions on wearing full-face veils in public places. The German state of Bavaria also bans the veils from being worn in public.

Ukrainian Nationalists Accused of anti-Semitism

A spate of anti-Semitic vandalism is being blamed on Ukrainian Nationalists by Jewish authorities.

The low level vandalism includes damaging gravestones and daubing swastika emblems on Jewish property. A Ukrainian spokesman said, "this is not the work of Nationalists, but of vandals and hooligans".

The Jewish Community in Ukraine is particularly sensitive over the decision by the local authority in the capital, Kiev, to rename city streets after two wartime Ukrainian Nationalist heroes, Stefan Bandera and Roman Shukhevych. Jewish authorities claim that both men collaborated with the wartime German occupation regime and took part in anti-Jewish activities.

Belgium

European Court Upholds Belgian Ban on Islamic Veils

The European Court of Human Rights has ruled that Belgium is within its rights to ban the wearing of Islamic veils, such as the Burka and Niqab in public.

The appeal to the European Court was brought by three Muslim women who claimed the ban infringed their "human rights". But the court disagreed, ruling that the ban "protected the rights and freedoms of others and created the human relationships that were essential to life in society". This means it remains in Belgium illegal to be in a public place "with a face masked or hidden, in whole or in part, in such a way as to be unidentifiable".

Anyone breaching the law face fines or up to one week in prison.

Obituary

Ernst Zundel

24/4/1939 – 5/8/2017

It is with great sadness that we learned of the sudden death of Ernst Zundel.

Ernst was born in 1939 in Baden-Wurttemberg in the Black Forest region of Germany. Shortly after his birth, his father enlisted in the German army. He was captured by allied forces and was held as a prisoner of war until returning home in 1947. For all of this period the young Ernst was raised by his mother.

Ernst was a talented artist and studied graphic art at trade school, graduating in 1957.

In 1958, the 19 year-old emigrated to Canada where he worked as a graphic artist, photographer and printer. His first political activities were in the early 1970's working with the Concerned Parents of German Descent organisation, protesting at the demonising of German-Canadians over the Holocaust. This led to him setting up his own Samistat publishing house, publishing several works questioning the authenticity of the authorised version of the Holocaust. By 1980, Samistat Publishers had grown worldwide.

By challenging the authorised version of the Holocaust, Ernst Zundel made powerful enemies and these pressured the Canadian State to persecute him. From 1980 until January 1983, he was banned from sending out mail from anywhere in Canada, following a decision that his Holocaust dissent was a "hate crime". Ernst simply switched to a PO address in the USA. Following a legal challenge by Zundel's legal team that the mailing ban was a violation of his "rights to freedom of expression" protected under the Canadian "Charter of Rights and Freedoms". His mailing facilities were restored in January 1983. The authorities did not give up, and he faced further trials for publishing "hate materials" in 1985 and 1988. Although initially convicted, both decisions were overturned on appeal. With Samistat and Zundel flourishing, the enemy turned to violence, and in May 1995, his house was firebombed causing severe damage. Weeks later a parcel-bomb addressed to him was intercepted by postal authorities. Nobody has ever been convicted for the attacks. In January 2000 he left Canada and moved to the USA. In 2003, he was arrested for overstaying his visitor's visa, and as he was still legally a German citizen, he was deported to Germany. Denying the authorised version of the Holocaust is a very serious offence in Germany and, on his arrival at Frankfurt airport; Ernst was immediately arrested and charged with 14 counts involving denial of the Holocaust. Determined to get a conviction, the authorities banned two of his defence council from court. A good defence was not in the best interest of Germany's ruling elite. On the 15th of February 2007, Ernst Zundel was convicted and sentenced to the maximum 5 years in prison. Nationalists worldwide held protests and called for his release but ultimately he was not released until March 2010. After his release he applied to return to Canada but was refused entry. In 2017, he applied for a visitor's visa for the United States to visit his wife, Ingrid Rimland, who he had married in 2001. His application was denied.

Ernst returned to his childhood home in the Black Forest, which had been empty since the death of his mother. It was here, on the afternoon of Saturday, the 5th of August his sister Sigrid found him dead. It is believed he suffered a heart attack.

Farewell old Comrade, for you the struggle is over. But we know you march with us still, in Spirit, onto Victory for Truth!

Race Hate Britain

The Imam of the Makkah mosque in Leeds, Qari Asim, has publicly stated, "We cannot hide from the fact that the perpetrators of these appalling crimes were mostly Muslims. If it is cultural prejudices that have led to these men to prey on white girls, seeing them as 'easy meat' then this needs to be addressed".

Yes, the Muslim community does need to address this issue quickly and seriously. Recent terrorist attacks have mostly originated from within the British Muslim community, and now the gangs of paedophile groomers are predominantly from the same community.

Now British Muslims are faced with a stark choice, either work pro-actively with the authorities to identify these vile predators within their own community and help protect our vulnerable children, or face condemnation as accomplices by the white, British public and, face the consequences.

Police officers, social workers and politicians must stop allowing young white girls to be defiled and sacrificed on the altar of political correctness.

Campaigns against Muslim grooming gangs have almost exclusively been conducted by British nationalists, whilst the liberals, the church and the extreme-left have condemned us as racists and Islamophobic. But we will not give up!
WHITE GIRLS MATTER!

Samhain

October 31st to November 1st

The pagan festival of Samhain starts at sunset on the 31st of October and runs 24 hours until sunset on November 1st.

With the crops safely gathered in, and stored in the barns, it is now the time for the cattle to be brought down from the summer pastures and their winter quarters made ready. Livestock such as pigs were slaughtered and their meat preserved by salting or smoking it. Winter was coming!

The pagans that inhabited the vast forests of northern Europe believed that the Oak King was born of the Goddess at Yuletide, and ruled the lighter part of the year, growing in strength through the spring and summer, before weakening through autumn until he dies on the eve of Samhain.

Death plays a vital part in the Samhain festivals with the belief that the souls of recently departed kith and kin, will return for a 24 hour period at Samhain. Large bonfires are lit to guide the souls to the camp, and a place is laid for them at the feast table. Prayers are offered to the Gods for the souls of the dead, and prayers of thanks for a successful harvest.

In the 9th Century the Christian church created "All Souls Day" to coincide with the festival of Samhain, and this in turn was largely supplanted by the modern, U.S created, "Halloween" festival.
